The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Monday December 4. to Thursday December 7. 1704.

St. James's, Dec. 6. The following Addreſs from the Town of Berwick upon Tweed was preſented to Her Majeſty by Samuel Ogle and Jonathan Hutchinſon Eſqs; their Repreſentatives in Parliament, introduced by the Rt. Hon. the Lord Grey of Werk.

To the QUEEN's moſt Excellent Majeſty.

The humble Addreſs of the Mayor, Bayliffs and Burgeſſes, of the Borough of Berwick upon Tweed, in Guild aſſembled.

May it pleaſe Your Majeſty,

THE unparallel'd Succeſs of Your Majeſty's Arms, under the admirable Conduct of his Grace the Duke of Marlborough, in Conjunction with Your Allies, over the French and Bavarian Forces at Blenheim, fills us, Your dutiful Subjects, with an inconceivable Joy.

We cannot but adore that Divine Providence, which favours Your juſt and generous Undertakings, and ſmiles upon the watchful Care, wherewith Your Royal Breaſt is perpetually exerciſed, on behalf of the Liberties of Europe, and the Security of the Proteſtant Religion, againſt the Grand Aggreſſor of both, whoſe Hopes from our Diviſions are utterly defeated by Your Majeſty's Royal Intimation of an indulgent Diſpoſition towards all Your Subjects without Diſtinction.

The Noble Exploits of Your Captain General, and the undaunted Bravery of Your Forces, in the Action of that memorable Day, whereby ſo great a Turn was given to the Affairs of Europe, not only ſecures the Empire in its moſt valuable Concerns, and reflects its benign Influences on the moſt diſtant Parts of the known World, but is alſo an happy Omen, That late Poſterity ſhall have no Cauſe to be embroil'd in thoſe bloody Struggles in future Wars, wherewith the Exorbitant Power of the French Monarch, and his Boundleſs Deſigns, ſeem'd to threaten them.

Herein (Dread Sovereign) You have given an unexceptionable Evidence to the World of Your Capacity to maintain that Province of Preſerving the Ballance of Europe, peculiar to thoſe that ſway the Engliſh Scepter.

From henceforth the haughty Monarch of France muſt boaſt no more that his Troops are invincible, nor an Ambitious Elector (relying on them as ſuch) entertain vain Hopes of the Imperial Dignity, whilſt Your Majeſty fills the Engliſh Throne, bleſſed with the Affections of Your People, and England can furniſh ſuch Generals and Soldiers as are Strangers to Fear, but what they ſee of it in their Enemies Faces.

That Your Majeſty may long live to be the Comfort and Delight of Your Subjects, the Refuge of the Oppreſſed, the Terror of Your Enemies, the Head of the Reformed Intereſt, and the Defender of the Proteſtant Succeſſion as by Law Eſtabliſhed; ſhall ever be the earneſt Prayers of Your Majeſty's moſt loyal and dutiful Subjects,

In Teſtimony whereof we have hereunto cauſed our Common Seal to be affixed, the Seventeenth Day of November, in the Third Year of Your Majeſty's moſt Gracious Reign.

The following Addreſs from the Borough of Yarmouth was preſented by Benjamin England and John Nicholſon Eſqs; their Repreſentatives in Parliament.

To the QUEEN's moſt Excellent Majeſty.

The humble Addreſs of the Mayor, Aldermen, Burgeſſes, and Commonalty, of Your Majeſty's Borough of Great Yarmouth in the County of Norfolk, in Common Council aſſembled.

MADAM,

WE humbly beg Your Majeſty's Leave to teſtify our great Joy for that memorable Victory obtained by the Arms of Your Majeſty and Your Allies, under the Conduct of that Great General the Duke of Marlborough, over the French and Bavarians; and alſo for thoſe ſignal Services done by Your Royal Navy in the Mediterranean, under the Command of Sir Gerge Rooke; by both which ſo ſeaſonable a Stop was put to that violent Carrier the Common Enemy was in to deſtroy the Liberties of Europe.

Theſe great Bleſſings, Madam, to Your People, next under Heaven, muſt be attributed to the Juſtice and Prudence of Your Majeſty's Adminiſtration, to Your Exemplary Piety towards God, fervent Zeal for the Preſervation of our Eſtabliſhed Church, and Your late unparallel'd Bounty for the ſupporting its poorer Clergy.

All which are invincible Obligations on us to exert our utmoſt Abilities to ſupport Your Majeſty againſt all Your Enemies, and to pray for Your long and proſperous Reign over us.

In Teſtimony whereof we have cauſed our Common Seal to be hereto affixed, this 24th day of November, in the Third Year of Your Majeſty's Reign, Anno; Dom. 1704.

Which Addreſſes Her Majeſty received very Graciouſly.

There was a Miſtake in the inſerting in the laſt Gazette the Addreſs from Plympton in the County of Devon; it ſhould have been thus, That the ſaid Addreſs was preſented by Richard Edgecomb Eſq; one of their Repreſentatives in Parliament, and Tho. Jervoiſe Eſq; being introduced by the Rt. Hon. the Lord Powlett, Lord Lieutenant of that County.

From on Board Her Majeſty's Ship the Nottingham, in the Bay of Gibraltar, Novemb. 14. N. S. Sir John Leake, with the Squadron of Engliſh and Dutch Men of War under his Command, ſailed from the Bay of Wares the 5th Inſtant, and arrived here the 9th. We ſurprized in this Bay Two of the Enemies Ships of 34 Guns each, One of 12, a Fire-ſhip, a Tartan, and Two Engliſh Prizes which were taken in their way from Leghorne to England, all which the Enemy run aſhore and burnt; another of the Enemy's Ships of 30 Guns got out, but was taken by Her Majeſty's Ship the Swallow. We have ſupplied the Gariſon with Proviſion for Seven Months, and with 200 Barrels of Powder; our Arrival was very ſeaſonable; for the Enemy had got together a great number of Boats from Cadiz, and other Ports, with which they intended to have tranſported 3000 Men to the New Mole, in order to Storm the Place; And the 11th in the Morning, 500 of the Enemy were happily diſcovered upon the top of the Hill that overlooks the Town; and being attacked by Col. Borr with the Grenadiers, above 200 of them were killed, and of the reſt moſt were taken Priſoners. They got up on the Eaſt-ſide by the help of Rope-ladders. The Enemy carry on the Siege by Land with great Vigour; and the Gariſon being diminiſhed, the Prince of Heſſe has ſent for a Reinforcement; and in the mean time we continue here to give the Beſieged all the Aſſiſtance we are able.

Gibraltar, November 19. N. S. The Engliſh and Dutch Squadron commanded by Sir John Leake, arrived in our Bay very ſeaſonably on the 9th Inſtant, the Enemy having reſolved to attack us that very Night by Sea and Land in Five ſeveral Places at once; but were diſappointed by the Arrival of our Ships. The 11th in the Morning, the Enemy believing that by reaſon of the Squadron's being come to our Aſſiſtance, we would think our ſelves more ſecure, and be leſs upon our Guard, they ſent 500 Men, who, by the help of Rope-Ladders, got over the Hill by Ways though which no Body had ever paſſed before, in order to have made themſelves Maſters of that Hill, and of a Paſs which we are poſſeſſed of, and to have brought in more Forces through that Paſs; but we diſcoveted them ſoon enough to baffle their Deſign, and our Grenadiers attacked them, took 160 Priſoners, among whom are a Colonel and 30 other Officers, and moſt of the reſt were killed. Prince Henry, Brother to the Prince of Heſſe, was wounded in this Attack. Colonel Fox was killed with a Cannon-Ball the day that our Squadron arrived: Colonel Nugent our Lieutenant-Governor, has had the ſame Fate, and ſome other Officers of leſs note. We are in hopes of a ſpeedy Reinforcement from Portugal, by the help of which we may not only defend the Place, but drive the Enemy out of our Neighbourhood.

Gibraltar, November 21. N. S. About 500 Seamen, belonging to Sir John Leake's Squadron, are come on Shore to our Aſſiſtance, and help us in repairing the Damage done by the Enemy's Cannon, and in making ſeveral new Works for our greater Security. The Beſiegers have made a Breach, but it is inconſiderable; and in caſe they ſhould widen it, we are preparing a Counter-work, from whence we may beat them from the Breach, ſhould they attempt to mount it; in which they will find great Difficulties, not only by reaſon of our Situation, but alſo of ſeveral Works we have, from whence we can take them in Flank, Front, and Rear; beſides which, the Admiral has promiſed to Man all his Boats with Small Arms to come upon their other Flank by Sea, which the Enemy cannot avoid; and when our Succours are come from Portugal, we may then make a Sally, nail up their Guns, and ſoon oblige them to raiſe the Siege.

Lisbon, December 3. N. S. The Prince of Heſſe d'Armſtad having ſent an Expreſs hither from Gibraltar, to deſire a Reinforcement, Orders are given for the Battalion of Engliſh Guards, that of Barrimore, and a Dutch Batalion lately come from Holland, to be ſent from hence to that Gariſon; which is alſo to be reinforced with 500 Portugueſe and their Officers from Lagos, whither Mr. Methuen, Her Majeſty of Great Britain's Envoy Extraordinary, is gone to ſee them embark with all poſſible Expedition: And an Expreſs was diſpatched this Morning to Gibraltar, to give the Admiral an Account of the Diſpoſition made on this ſide for the Relief of that Place. We have received a certain Account from the Frontiers, of a very briſk Action done by Don Franciſco de Melo, Governor of Moura, on the Borders of Portugal, next Andaluſia; who having Intelligence of a conſiderable Part of a Spaniſh Regiment of Horſe lying at Santa Barbara, marched thither; and having ſurprized and defeated them, returned home with many Priſoners whom he had taken, 60 Horſes, ſeveral Mules, and a good Booty of Cattel.
